One day Tom, Kumi, Paul and their teacher talk about a theme. “It is a junior high school student needs to have a cell phone.” Please read these ideas, and think about them carefully.

Tom says,

“Cell phones are becoming more important today. Of course, we can call our friends. If we want to look (A) a good restaurant, we can get information easily. If we want to know about a singer that we like, we can exchange information about the singer with people all over the world. We can play games. We can do anything with (あ) them. I think that people have to learn how to use them earlier because we can't live without them.”

Kumi says,

“I understand (い) your idea, but there are some important things when we use cell phones. The student shouldn't have a cell phone, because they don't have much time to talk with their family at home. The information that you got may not be true. Today we see the news that some students get in trouble with a cell phone. We must use it carefully. A junior high school student is too young to have it.”

Paul says,

“There are many ideas about a cell phone. A cell phone is changing our way of lives. We don't think about the world without it. It makes our lives rich. But we sometimes get in trouble. To save our lives, we have to learn how to use a cell phone carefully and talk a lot about it with our family. I don't know which is better for the junior high school students.”

Teacher says,

“If you have a cell phone, you should make rules of a cell phone in your family and keep the rules.
